

Research Scholarship

Available for high school students who are:

- ✓ Passionate about conducting research with youths in various countries.
- ✓ Eager to contribute to the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals.
- ✓ Committed to spending 6 hours per week on research activities.

Recipients will:

- ✓ Make friends with students around the world.
- ✓ Together, make an impact on an important issue.
- ✓ Become researchers and published authors.

3X

more likely to enter top universities in the US and around the world.

Program Specifics

The purpose of this Research Program is to help high school students strengthen academic skills through research and therefore increase their chances of university admissions.

In this Program students work in small groups on a research topic under the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Each research team has the support of a research advisor. The program is one-year long, from January to November 2024. Each team will produce a high-quality research paper that will be peer reviewed and published.

Students collaborate through weekly research meetings, group work, and independent work, approximately 6 hours per week in total. All meetings, discussions, and teamwork are done remotely via Zoom and Google collaborative apps. No traveling is needed. Each team creates their own meeting and work schedules in consideration of team members' time zones.

UN recognition

www.un.org/en/civil-society/youth-research-vox

Our graduates

www.youtube.com/watch?v=S-6RKE-uEBM

To apply

Contact your local Rotary club